IF YOU NEED YOUR TEAMS TO WORK REMOTELY OR FROM HOME, WE CAN HELP

Working remotely is increasingly becoming the norm for roles that don't need to physically be in one place or as part of a business continuity plan when your teams can't come to the office. Whether that means working from home, on the move, or in different office locations - with the right technology and security you're good to go!

SUCCESSFUL REMOTE WORKING INVOLVES A FEW SIMPLE STEPS

Success working outside of the office, on the go, or at home depends on your teams having the best equipment, connectivity, access, and security.

We can provide everything your team needs:

- Equipment, including laptops, phones, monitors, and headsets
- Connectivity on the go or from home
- Market leading solutions for video conferencing and collaboration
- Secure access to business infrastructure via either VPN or secure system connectivity, which seamlessly extends your core systems to your users.
- Critical cyber security protection and user awareness training

WE MAKE IT SIMPLE TO GET SET UP FOR REMOTE WORKING.....

At Optic Digital we have a team of trained and licensed IT and security specialists who help businesses like yours with their IT services, so you get all of the expertise you need without having to resource your own team.

We have a long history of setting up teams to work remotely. We partner with you to develop a solution, plan and business case for going remote - getting flexible working up and running quickly.

We can help you understand what kind of equipment different roles will need, and how to ensure you comply with any health and safety requirements at the same time.

In plain English, we'll help you ensure your people can connect remotely and securely so that you continuously keep ahead of any security issues no matter where or when your teams are working.

WE UNDERSTAND WHAT YOU DO - AND GET IT RIGHT FIRST TIME.....

Firstly we'll understand who in your business can complete their role outside of an office

- By understanding your business aims and how and why you want to set your teams up to work remotely, our experienced IT and HR leads will be able to make the recommendations right for YOUR unique business, as culture and ways of working are very important factors in successful remote working

We'll audit and map out all the equipment and tools you currently use and what you'll need

- Along with auditing all the equipment you already have and might need, Optic will also review your 'secure access' to ensure you continuously protect your information assets and networks.

Review of recommendations and options

- We will discuss with your team the recommended approach to your remote working strategy and management, any software or hardware you might need and why, and we'll also help explain how to ensure 'cyber security' best practice for your plan.
